Product description

Do you feel like a grandmaster? Maybe it's not the time yet, but you can have a set of chess pieces such as set from the great contest between Bobby Fischer and Boris Spasskym, which took place in Reykjavik in 1972. Chess pieces used in this historic match were produced by the famous English company Jaques of London.

Match of 1972, where Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky fight for the world championship, is probably the most famous chess match in history - especially because it took place during the "Cold War". Although Fischer lost the first two parts, but the roles reversed, and soon he won the whole match 12 ½ to 8 ½. This amazing feat finished Russian domination in the world of chess.

Reykjavik Ebonised chess pieces are made from the highest quality boxwood (white pieces) and ebonised boxwood (black). Now you can become the owner of the chess pieces with an amazing story.
